The members of the faculty of Manley do not serve as overseers. They are, rather, members of a guiding body; helpful and cooperative, they are an integral part of the school life. Their work goes beyond that of presiding over a class in a pedantic manner.

The school teacher of today, and more specifically of Manley, is a friend, a confidant, and an adviser of the student. Manley teachers go beyond the call of duty in endeavoring to further better understanding between the student body and the faculty, and individually between each student and each teacher. There are numerous clubs, each with a sponsor who is a member of the faculty doing his or her part to foster finer relationships in the school.

There are many students who do not get along well with others. There are students who are unhappy in their school and home surroundings. To attend to the problems of these students personnel guidance has been inaugurated at Manley. Through individual contacts with the students, the teachers tender advice and attempt to adjust their problems. Every effort is made to expand and to satisfy the capacities, interests, and aptitudes of each student.

PRINCIPAL

In recent years the exponents of other forms of government have challenged our belief in constitutional democracy. They claim that its ideals are visionary and its working principles impractical. The public school is the chief instrument of democracy in preparing young people to maintain its ideals and make its principles work out effectively. Therefore, both the faculty and thinking members of the student body have faced the necessity of putting these principles into everyday action at Manley High School.

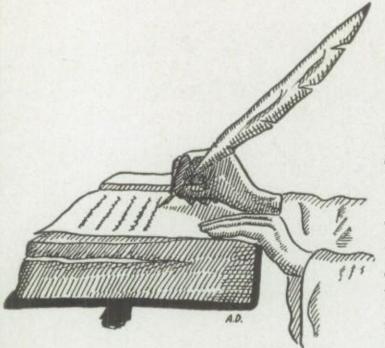

Members of this class have made a fine contribution in this direction. They have helped to show that democracy does not consist in endless talk, debate, and demagogic insistence on fulfillment of personal or prejudiced programs. They have led the way in intelligent recognition of properly constituted authority, effective participation in getting worth while things done, and growth of genuine belief in the soundness of our national principles. Individual initiative, freedom of expression and opportunity, and representation in the control of activities have come to be clearly recognized rights and responsibilities of pupil citizens.

It has long been a recognized principle that we "learn by doing." This is just as true of civic learning as it is in acquiring a shop skill. Our environment has provided a splendid civic laboratory. I congratulate you on your excellent grade in civic attitude and ideals. It has been your most important subject. May you continue this subject throughout a lifetime of usefulness.

Sincerely yours,

Thomas J. Crofts

YOUTH . . . IN RETROSPECT

Edith Friedman

We had always been dreamers. We had built our castle in the sky; dreams were our bricks, hope our mortar, our aim—to leave Manley a better place than we had found it.

One eventful morning in September, 1934, a large class gathered, some at Manley, many more at the Herzl branch. From the outset, some intangible power drew us to each other, uniting us in one common spirit, in one common aim. That first year is colorful with memories of the newness of sharing in a school's progress. Proudly we supported the newly named Manlegram. Eagerly we bought that patriarch of the Manley Memories family, the first edition.

Soon the branch members joined their classmates at the main building. The short-sighted, little plans we had made as freshmen had been carried out. Now, a united and more experienced class, we designed a new pattern into which were woven plans to place Manley among the foremost schools of the city. Slowly, the design unfolded before us. Twice Central Section Champs, the Juniors brought home the City Basket-ball title. The Girls' Chorus took first place in a city-wide contest, while the Manlegram contributed to Manley's prestige by receiving an "Excellent" rating. A new stride at home was the creation of the Student Congress through which the principles of democracy are practiced. To represent us Joyce Waldman and Philip Rubin were elected. Not content to rest with these achievements and inspired by our motto "Always working, never shirking", we launched the great Manley Beautification Campaign.

Another year's design had been executed. Dimly, new ideas were visualized to inspire and lead us. The 3A semester witnessed the establishment of a new precedent by our class, the Junior Bank, and a second Junior City victory was ours. A pageant of our progress was the first Open House, attended by many parents and friends.

At last! Gingerly at the outset, then confidently, we stepped into that regal domain — "Senior-hood." The Class of 1938 was organized. Sheldon Millman was elected President with Sylvia Diamond as Vice President. To Naomi Pritikin was entrusted the secretaryship, and the reins of the treasury placed in Robert Bezark's capable hands, while Irving Turk became Proctor.

The last lap was a whirlwind of activity centering about committee meetings, senior programs, division socials, and dancing classes. A record attendance crowd witnessed Manley's brilliant quintet go down fighting before the onslaught of Lane in the City finals. Administration Day, Mothers' and Daughters' Day became memories in the diaries of the Triple "M" and the P. A. L. S. Spring came, and the tulips added color to the symphony of beauty in the quadrangle. R. O. T. C. Day, then the Drama Tournament with its four delightful performances faded away leaving pleasant recollections. The days winged by, swiftly. We crowded all into their fleeting moments. The luncheon at the Graemere, a unique Class Day, and then—graduation, the finis, the most magnificent event of our youth, the attainment of our youthful dreams.

And so passes the Class of June, 1938. Our goal is reached. We have left Manley a better place than we had found it. Each of us perceives his own goal. Each has built his own castle. Yes, we will always be dreamers.

SENIOR EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

That the Senior committees run smoothly with efficient precision is due in no small part to the co-ordination of the Senior Executive Council. Elected by the divisions, one boy and girl from each, this body meets bi-weekly and receives reports on all Senior activities on the basis of which recommendations are made to the class on important matters. In addition to these activities the council engages in certain social functions such as the Senior picnic. The presiding members at the Council meetings are the class officers. Mrs. Bernice Murana is adviser for the group.

SENIOR COMMITTEES

Upon the shoulders of the committees rested the responsibility of the successful fulfillment of senior activities.

One of the first to go into action, the Financial Committee assumed the important task of assisting the treasurer in bank collections and other financial duties.

Those students who purchased pins or rings met with the efficiency of the Jewelry Committee which made the necessary arrangements.

The purchase of the class gift, a public address system, was the well executed duty of the Gift Committee.

The Alumni Committee served as a medium through which the Alumni and the senior class met at a special evening's entertainment in honor of these "old grads."

Division socials, the luncheon, weekly assemblies, and Class Day, pleasantries of Senior-hood, were results of the work of the Social, Program, and Class Day Committees respectively.

The designs of the luncheon, Class Day, and commencement programs were products of the Art Committee's successful efforts.

Measurements and orders for caps and gowns were taken by the members of that committee, while the Proctor Committee supervised the technical angles of all programs.

To plan and produce a graduation program that would be a fitting finale to school life was the function of the Commencement Committee.

Thus Youth at Manley gains experience applicable in life—to assume responsibility and co-operate toward the achievement of a common purpose.

Acting upon the precedent of former classes, the Triple "M" and P.A.L.S. served as the social center of the Seniors. Adding originality to the usual class spirit, these organizations inaugurated two milestones in our school history—Administration Day, with the Senior boys at the helm of the school, and Mothers' and Daughters' Day, the materialization of a long desired plan.

The P.A.L.S. were led by Anna Dunn, President; Julia Handleman, Vice President; Esther Rosenberg, Secretary; and Joyce Waldman, Treasurer; aided by Mrs. Bevier, Sponsor. The Triple "M", sponsored by Mr. Bayer, was guided by Harry Keith, President; Wayne LaValley, Vice President; David Bonner, Secretary; and Sam Chidekel, Treasurer.

THE MAGAZINE ARTS

The Magazine Arts class was created to correlate the many diverse activities that are necessary for magazine publication.

At the beginning of the semester, clever and unique posters were made in order to stimulate a potent interest in the Manley Memories. Later, frequent tours to the printing and engraving companies acquainted the class with the many problems, processes, and people of these fields.

Through the development of individual talents and the united efforts of the class as a whole, the plans, design, and organization of the book were finally realized. Eugene Kite spent a great deal of time and energy to produce a cartoon on his version of "Snow-White", and Herman Wensil contributed the other clever cartoons. Abe David supplied the drawings which add an artistic touch to the book. For several semesters the typing, make-up, and general work of "Dee" Rozmarin has saved many a day for the Magazine Arts class. Ruth Singer, although not a member of the class, designed the lovely modernistic introductory pages.

Thus artistic Youth contributed to the achievement of a school annual.

CREATIVE WRITING CLASS

Into the hands of twenty-two enthusiastic and ambitious seniors was placed the task of preserving the memories of four active and happy high school years in the form of the Manley Memories.

Having previously proved their individual merit, the Creative Writing Class members prepared themselves by six weeks of vocabulary and grammar study and practice in writing creative prose. These products also served as a basis upon which the staff was chosen.

With the appointment of the staff, each department assumed its responsibilities, operating independently and still together, for one idea correlated the work of the class—its keynote, harmony and co-operation.

Gradually the pieces were assembled and fitted together, united in a single product, just as the staff had been united in one effort and one purpose—to present to the Class of June, 1938, a vivid, enduring memory of their high school days, a reflection of their youth.

AL FRESCO

MANLEY MEMORIES CONTEST FIRST PLACE WINNER

Now do the tiny minstrels of the forest
Pour forth wee hearts in vibrant trills;
Now do the sweet, full-throated arias rise
To challenge gurgling woodland rills.
Swift as the flight of flaming Indian arrows,
Soft, feathered creatures scale the heights;
Soar nobly on!—God's chosen troubadours—
Removed from sorry, earthly plight.

The pale and tender cheeks of swelling buds
Are gently wooed to rosiness
With mild and sweetly-scented errant breeze
Low murmuring in drowsiness.
The long and golden shafts of early sunlight
Pierce the frail tapestry of wan leaves,
Casting grey veils of finely-woven lace
O'er streams that waltz 'neath mossy eaves.

The graceful, gliding movements of shy fawns
Stir noiselessly the blooming hedge
Like slender, floating spectres, meek of eye,
Embellishing scrolls of foliage.
A silken carpet of fresh, new-born green
Lies strewn with misty fairy rings
And wreaths wrought of the angels' silver tears.
Ah! Delicate sylvan fount of spring!

Carmela Covelli, 3A-8

A FALLING STAR

The moon is a fiery eye,

On a carpet of black velvet;

The stars are tiny diamonds

Dropped by careless fingers

In clusters on the endiess arch.

There is no lacy cloud to mar

The heavenly sight.

Then suddenly—A flash of pale orange

Gone as quickly as it came.

It was but a falling star,

Glowing with life for a moment

Then traveling swiftly through

The night—to its death.

Dorothy Kahn, 3A-4

DREAM SYMPHONY

The crash of cymbal, the throb of drum,
The sigh of the cello and the violin's hum.
The triangle's tinkle, the tuba's boom,
The shrill flute and the weird bassoon,
The woodwinds, brass, percussion, and strings
All cry out and tell you things.
Deftly weaving a golden tale
Whose charm and beauty never fail,
They transport you to another realm;
Then fading slowly, they leave the helm,
For you to guide the ship of dreams
Back to this world of colorless schemes.

Milt Grabow, 4B-2

MEDITATION

Meditation.

Of the angels.

The sweet twilight of thought.

Deep, soft, gray shadows pirouetting gently

On elfin toes

Muted by aged velvet carpets

Tufted with the dust

Of distant worlds.

Meditation.

White cotton fields drenched in blue moonlight.

Ethereal snow

That melts in starlit dusk.

Dark, heavy draperies

Seclude the earth
In black, moss-embellished grotto.

Meditation.

Saccharine strains of floating cloud-music Drifting gently

On light-perfumed breeze.

Scented with the voluptuous attar

Of lacy, dew-bathed flora

Carmela Covelli, 3A-8

THE WEEPING WILLOW

In a silence so serene,
In the sunlight's brightest sheen,
It stands beside a quiet stream.
With massive trunk and dainty leaves,
Majestic beauty one perceives.
The wind now stirs it, gently blowing,
As water below is slowly flowing
Towards the end, you know not where,
And in such felicity do not care.
The birds in her branches do linger,
And then if ever you'll hear the singer
Warble as if its heart were bursting
With the wond'rous joy upon which eyes were thirsting.

The sun—the weeping willow—the quiet stream— 'Tis enough to fill your greatest dream.

Lorraine Weiss, 4B-4

SPRING SYMPHONY

Multi-colored is the pattern of spring, Woven in hues like a butterfly's wing, And soft and sweet is the music played By the orchestra that Nature has made.

-11

The hum of a bee, the flight of a bird, The stir of a leaf that is scarcely heard, Fall of raindrops from a low-hung cloud, Flutter of a moth from its cocoon shroud.

11

The far-off clouds of azure blue, Leaves and grass of emerald hue, The yellow gleam of the daffodils Sparkling crystal of brooks and rills.

IV

Up in the sky and down on the ground, Are harmonies of color and sound, And the sun and scent and breeze combine To affect the head like a draft of wine.

Bernice Lander, 4B-1

RAIN

It came down in torrents,
It came down today,
It came when unneeded
But when needed stayed away.
RAIN! RAIN! RAIN!

Ruth Luber, 3A-8

THE JUNIORETTE

I'm just a little Juniorette and fortunate indeed,
To have passed my classes every year for which I'm mighty pleased.

Day by day and class by class till Saturday appears,
'Tis learn and work and work and learn and then the week-end nears.

'Cause if I didn't work to learn in school I know I'd be

A dummy like Charley McCarthy sitting on Bergen's knee.

"N" CLUB

HE "N" Club, the honorary newspaper society, was reorganized at the beginning of the semester with an unusually large number of members. The club, composed of selected members of the Manlegram, met every two weeks to discuss and criticize the paper just issued.

At the first meeting of the semester the officers were elected, consisting of Sid Levy, President; Robert Bezark, Vice President; Beverly Feldman, Secretary; and Rhea Dickman, Treasurer.

Committees were appointed to take care of various projects and activities, the first of which was a successful social in the corrective gym. Later in the semester the club held a luncheon.

MR. BRADY ADVISER

THE MANLEGRAM

Endeavoring to maintain the fine standard for which it received the Quill and Scroll rating of "E", the new staff worked hard on the make-up and organization of the Manlegram. Many new ideas concerning articles and arrangement were suggested, and through the cooperation of Mr. Brady, journalism adviser, and the staff, many improvements were made. The result was a finer and stronger paper earning the increased circulation that approximated 2,000 subscribers. The Quill and Scroll commended the publication for its excellent circulation which is very large in proportion to the population of the school.

Interesting articles on such subjects as the victories of the musical groups, the beautification projects in connection with the "Keep Manley Clean" drive, the athletic endeavors of the various teams, Administration Day, and the progress made in art work formed the good material which taken all in all, gives a picture of a semester's activities at Manley.

MANLEGRAM STAFF

Carrying the torch of journalistic endeavor at Manley was the graduating staff of the Manlegram, led by Mr. Brady, faculty adviser.

With Sid Levy, editor-in-chief, at the head of the staff, there were the following workers who co-operated faithfully: Yetta Singer, Feature Editor; Helen Kramer, Literary Editor; Ida Turowsky, Copy Editor; Maurice Gottlieb, Boys' Sports Editor; Mary Saeder and Ruby Shedd, Girls' Sports Editors; Evelyn Sarnoff, Layle Bergman, Minnie Katzenberg, and Lucille Marianne, Typists; and Shirley Klement, Feature Columnist.

The following were members of the business staff: Rhea Dickman, Business Manager; Robert Bezark and Morris Tovian, Circulation Managers; Shirley Amort, Howard Amort, Minnie Acquila, Carmelee Barbagallo, and Harold Brodsky, Aides.

THE HONOR SOCIETY

HE creation of the Manley Honor Society was the result of a long cherished aim to promote the ideals of scholarship, leadership, character, and service. Toward this end it was organized in 1935. The first semester of the society claimed fifty members. Each year showed a much wider interest resulting in a larger membership, until this semester, under the leadership of Miss Roehl and Miss Dolese, the society showed the largest membership since its origin.

The Honor Society is composed of students who have received an "E" and "S" average at the end of the semester. The officers chosen for the June, 1938, year were Joseph Miller, President; Edith Friedman, Vice President; Ruth Singer, Secretary; Ralph Tcach, Treasurer; and Abraham Goldfarb, Editor. Guided by this executive committee the society fulfilled its purpose to promote the ideals and principles of scholarship and to encourage students to become honor members of Manley.

JOSEPH MILLER PRESIDENT

This year the club has enjoyed one of its most successful and active seasons and has added new activities to its already long and distinguished list. A very enjoyable assembly was held during which the members received their membership cards as recognition of their excellent scholarship. The annual party, closing the term, was planned as a fitting finale to a progressive and eventful season.

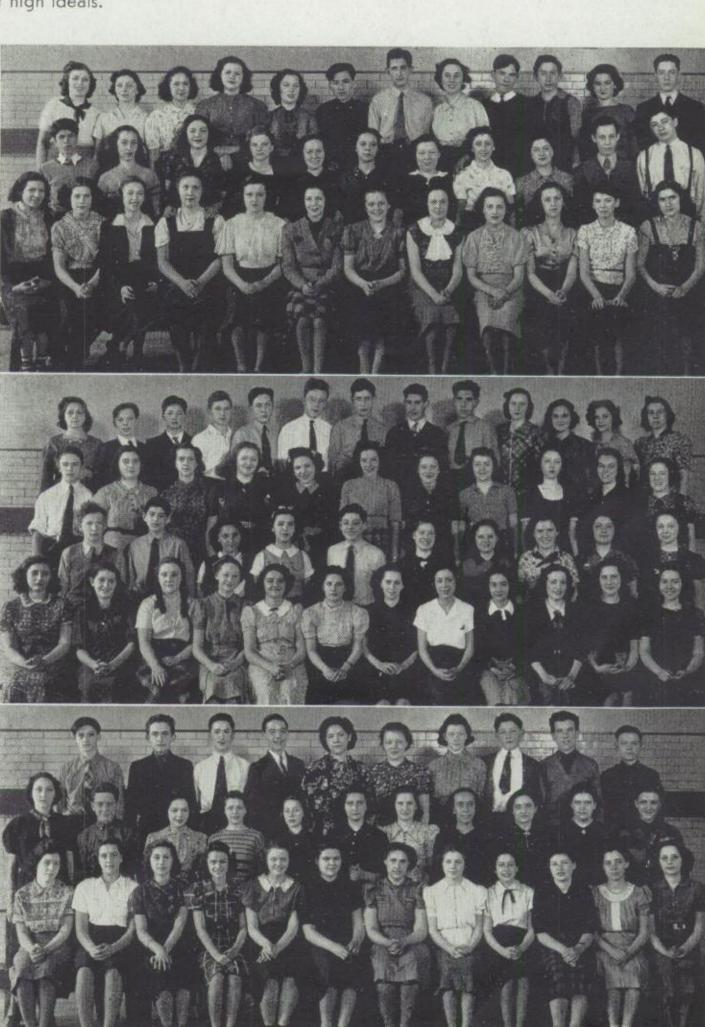

One of the most progressive school groups since the organization's origin, the Honor Society has this year achieved its greatest ambition—the establishment of a Manley chapter of the National Honor Society. This renowned organization will give Manley added prestige and honor in the field of scholarship and will offer many opportunities and privileges to its members.

Membership in the National Honor Society will necessitate the division of the honor students into two groups next Fall, a Manley Honor Society and a chapter of the National Honor Society, since only a certain percentage of the higher grade students can belong to the latter organization. Such division will decrease the membership in each group thus facilitating meetings and making the groups function more efficiently. As recognition of their membership National Honor Society students receive a pin, and at graduation a gold seal is affixed to their diplomas as an added honor.

Next year marks the inauguration of a new plan, a new idea—another step forward in Manley's search of high ideals.

Margolis, S. Shayman, S. Caliendo, E. Levin, J. Kramer, M. Squire, S. Weisman, M. Reine, V. Wolfman.

CHESS AND CHECKERS

Having captured the delight of Manley students, chess and checker games and inter-school tournaments led in school activities. Mrs. Brandenburg's chess club and Mrs. Foster's checker club have played tournaments within their clubs this semester.

Through the energy and skill of the team and the sponsorship of Miss Jordan, Manley's chess team led by Captain Joe Miller has successfully finished the season with a second place tie.

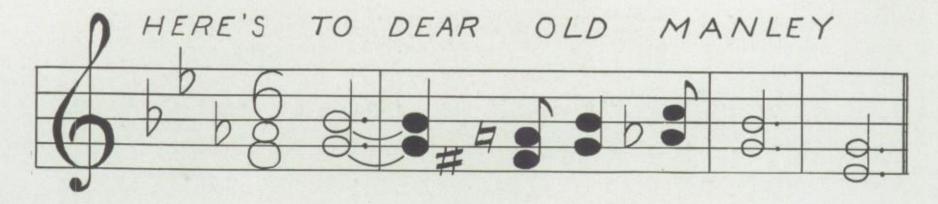

The checker team under the able leadership of Leonard Levine has made brilliant showings by winning the section championship the first two years and then retaining the city championship title for the past two years.

MUSIC REVIEWS

"Without music life would be a mistake!"

HESE words have a true, unmistakable meaning. Here at Manley, where music has an important place in school life, the semester has been marked by spectacular achievements for the band, orchestra, and choruses.

After a great deal of preparation, the Girls' Chorus, under the direction of their talented leader, Miss Lucille Conley, received a high rating in an inter-school choral contest. The judges were duly impressed with the expression and tonal beauty of the selections.

The orchestra made rapid progress this semester. Ralph Tcach, the graduating concert-meister, deserves special recognition for his beautiful playing and helpful participation. At the Spring Music Festival the orchestra rendered many beautiful selections and thus presented unlimited enjoyment to music-loving students.

An amusing feature of the music work this semester was the German Band directed by a student and consisting of various noisy instruments. Colorful and unique, the band represented music in a lighter, gayer vein.

The Senior Chorus under Miss Conley's direction participated actively in musical programs. The chorus consisted of forty-six mixed voices of rare quality. A group of lovely songs was rendered at the Spring Music Festival, and Commencement Night was further enriched with fine selections.

Mr. Schwuchow's A cappella Chorus presented "His Majesty's Ship, Pinafore", a Gilbert and Sullivan Operetta, at the Spring Music Festival. This delightful presentation consisted of numerous lilting songs beautifully sung. Mr. Schwuchow directed the operetta skillfully and artistically. It is fervently hoped that "His Majesty's Ship, Pinafore" will set a precedent for operettas at Manley in years to come.

The Honor Band under the capable and inspiring direction of Mr. Stark received an "S" rating in a city-wide contest while the reed ensemble received an "S" rating in a city-wide reed ensemble contest. From a tiny nucleus the band has grown to its present imposing size, consisting of the beginners', intermediate, and honor bands. Therefore, it is with special pride that we view the excellent results of these contests.

Thus, music passes in review this semester—music—one of the finest things that life offers for creative and appreciative Youth.

SENIOR DRAMA

In March the Manley Players presented over Radio Station WJJD an educational and entertaining Scholastic Radio Play, "The State versus Joe Miller."

The coming of May brought intensive preparations for the Drama Tournament. Posters were painted, parts rehearsed, tickets printed, and an insignia (a combination of the class monogram and two masques, symbolic of the theatre) was adopted.

Having completed the preliminary arrangements, the Players were ready to begin the tournament. Amid dimmed lights, the curtains rose revealing to the Players the largest audiences dramatic presentations at Manley had ever known.

So beautifully presented and excellently cast were the plays that the Manley Players can rightly be proud of their achievement in bringing to Manley the most colorful season in its dramatic history.

YOUNG AMERICA . . . SPEAKS

Ida Levy, 3A-7

Kneeling in worship of all finer things—
Supporting the strong, defending the meek,
Preserving religion, the right of free men—
We, young America, fervently seek
The Grail of Kindness in a power-crazed world,
The grain of Truth in a world gone mad,
Release from the torture of war's deadly clutches,
Happiness, such as God would that we had.

Warm, friendly handclasps instead of cold death, Happy youth—free from temptations of crime, No man too humble to share in life's gladness, Impartial mountains that all youth may climb. Are we too far gone to help one another? Shall finding ourselves render too high a cost? Are we of such fiber—afraid of the dark? No, Young America . . . we are not yet lost!

FIDI ACHATES

After a study of Virgil in the Latin class, the name Fidi Achates, Faithful Comrades, was chosen to represent the club of the advanced Latin class. This club, spon sored by Miss Louise Wilson, met every other week during one of its class periods to receive an educational and cultural background. They also studied all phases of mythology including art and poetry.

FIRE MARSHALS

The Fire Marshals play an important role in instructing the students through habitual practice in fire drills as to their conduct in the event of a real emergency. A system which provides for speedy inspection by the marshals has resulted in a steadily decreasing time necessary for evacuation of the building.

In the capacity of leader, Fire Chief Eugene Kite has done commendable work. Co-operating with him in installing and training a new squad have been Assistant Fire Chiefs Leo Cohen and Louis Perkal.

CAMPUS

CAMPUS CIVICS

Good citizenship is the thread which runs through all the activities of the Campus Civics class. Absorbing discussions of the biographies of great Americans whose lives are examples of citizenship at its best instill into the minds of the students the desire to be worth-while citizens and also point the way to this goal.

Practical application of these ideals of courtesy, co-operation, and control can be found in the supervision of the halls by these Manley citizens.

Next semester no academic credit will be given for this service, but a certain number of points toward a Civic "M" will be awarded.

This creditable group is sponsored by Mr. Taintor.

USHERS

Living up to their ideals of service and efficiency, the Ushers have been invaluable to Manley for their capable management of assemblies in Manley Hall. Sponsored by Mr. LaForce and directed by Bernard Potofsky, chief usher, the organization has charge of the regulation of the hall during all assemblies and programs.

Scenery, stage props, and lighting arrangements have also been the work of this fine group who by working in squads has produced more effective and efficient results.

The steady growth of the Ushers has made it one of Manley's indispensable organizations, appreciated by the faculty and students alike.

KEEP MANLEY CLEAN COMMITTEE

This year the Keep Manley Clean Committee adopted as its slogan "Clean-up Week is a Twelve Month Week", and it faithfully and thoroughly lived up to this doctrine.

Every room in the school was checked as to cleanliness several times during the day by various members of the clean-up committee. At the end of the week each room that was given an excellent or superior rating during each checking received a blue and gold emblem, designed by the art department, to be placed on the door. Robert Stickel, a member of the committee, supervised the marking. Room 305 was given a large emblem, for that room received the highest ratings during the semester.

The lunchroom was checked every day, and such efforts brought noticeable improvement. Lockers, halls, and grounds also were subjected to the committee's regular inspection.

Each division room in the school was represented by a member of the K.M.C.

committee. These members attended weekly meetings and guided the functions and activities of the clean-up committee. The entire school was made clean-up conscious and cooperated with the committee in every way. David Bonner, chairman of the K.M.C., served on the Civic Service Committee, a city-wide group which takes charge of all public school clean-up activities.

Each school in the city compiled a scrap-book which was sent to the Association of Commerce for a city-wide and sectional contest. Manley's committee chose the winning book of the six elementary schools in its district. Ruth Singer and other members of the art department arranged all the art work of Manley's book. The winning school in each section of the city was awarded a large silver cup.

CIVIC AWARD

HE culmination of youthful endeavor at Manley—the Civic Award. Of the various types of awards the highest that can be bestowed upon a citizen of Manley is the Civic "M", the symbol of the ideal student. These pupils represent one per cent of the student body who have unselfishly rendered their services for the good and betterment of Manley. Their goal was not to receive glory or compensation, but merely to do their part in maintaining the reputable and high standards established here.

In return for the respect that they have shown for Manley, they were awarded the Civic "M" which they earned through outstanding service in any of the numerous activities which include journalism, clerical practice, music, and campus civics.

This youthful group has set a precedent for fellow classmates at Manley which will be carried on in the future. As citizens of Manley they have learned the first step of citizenship—to adhere to the principle of service for the benefit of others.

The Civic Award Committee under the jurisdiction of Mr. Crofts and Mr. Beyler was composed of Mr. Taintor, chairman, Miss Jordan, Miss Kern, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Murana, Miss Richards, Mrs. Schreiner, and Miss M. Smith. To the members of this committee was entrusted the task of selecting the recommended applicants.

Next semester a new system will be adopted which is similar to the G. A. A. point system. With this new method every pupil can compete for an award. A specified number of points will be given for each activity in which a student participates beginning with the IB semester and carried forth to the 4B semester. In 4B the points will be added, and those receiving the highest totals will be eligible for the Civic "M."

STUDENT COUNCIL

F liberty and equality as is thought by some are chiefly to be found in democracy, they will be best attained when all persons share in the government to the utmost."

The Student Council, the voice of student opinion, strives to preserve and promote a democratic spirit at Manley. Utilizing the valuable assets of student body cooperation and the collaboration of the faculty, the Council has successfully engaged in numerous activities.

The Student Council is responsible for noticeable improvement in the lunchroom, the appearance of the corridors, and beautification of the campus. It has selected and improved the activities of such sub-committees as the Keep Manley Clean Committee and the committee which endeavored to secure a more favorable traffic situation on Sacramento Blvd.

A new, more efficient and democratic constitution has recently been overwhelmingly approved by the majority of the students. It changes the former Student Congress to a Council of 14 members, two from each class except the 1B class. The Council makes pertinent reports to the House of Representatives, consisting of one representative from every division, and welcomes its suggestions on important matters.

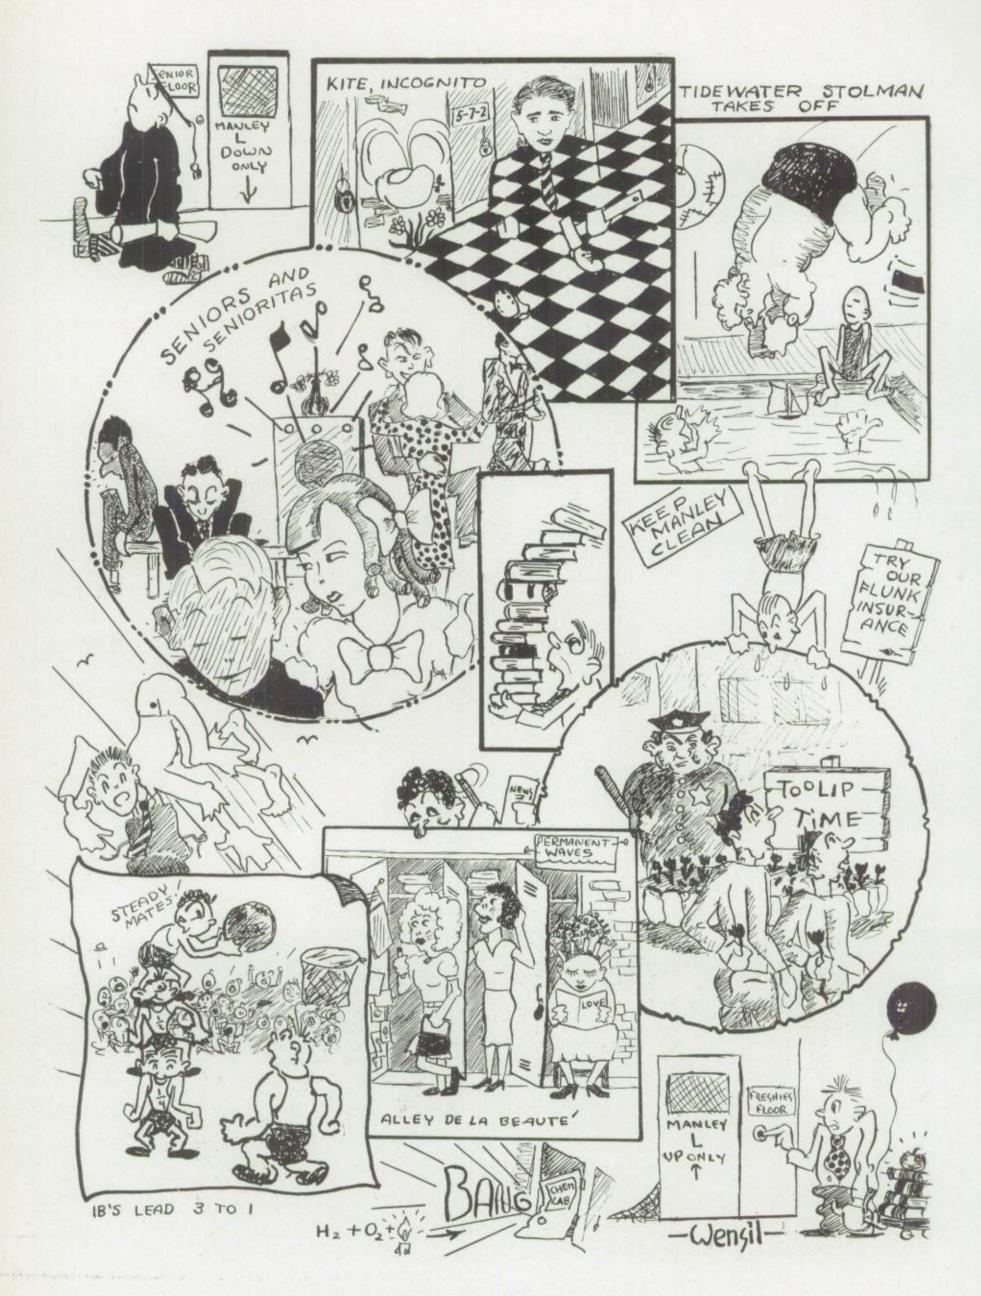

Steering the Council to the heights have been Philip Rubin, President; Leo Cohen, Vice President; Edith Norman, Secretary; Alex Kamenetzky, Parliamentarian; Harold Romirowsky, Financial Secretary; and Mr. Adair, Sponsor.

The main institution through which the students can prepare themselves for service to their community is the Student Council. There they can acquaint themselves with the fundamental principle of democracy and its operation and apply it to their own lives in the future.

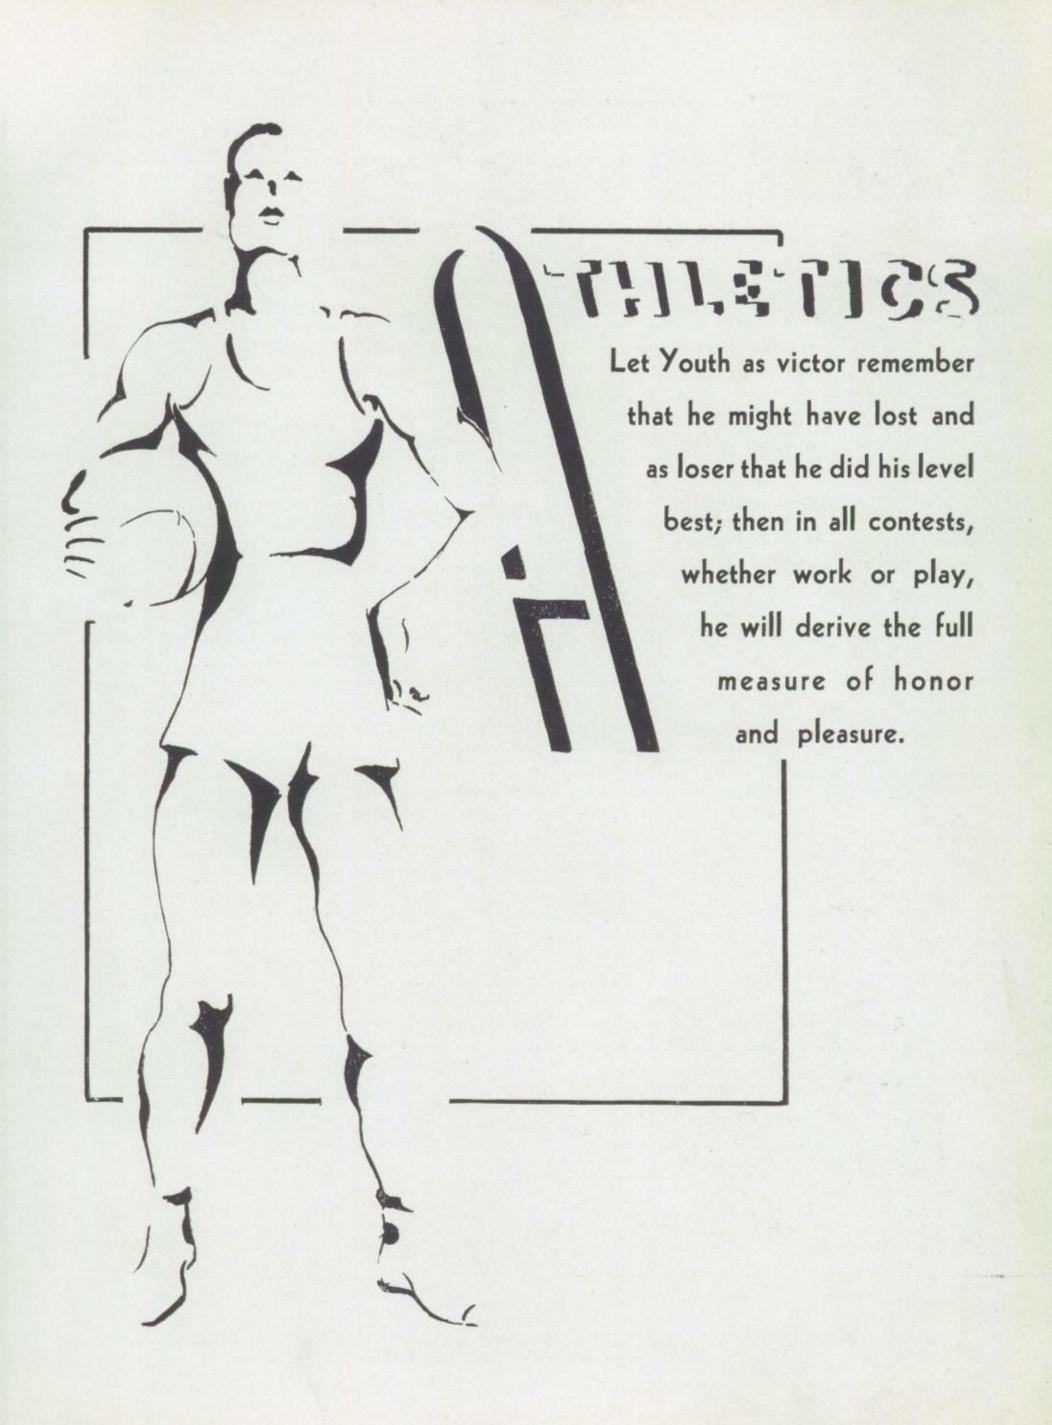

The Student Council has been an inspiration to all and has promoted interest in all phases of school life. Democracy and cooperation have given us the foundation for the development of good citizenship.

JUNIORS

Sweeping victoriously through all their league games, the Manley Juniors suffered a 33-29 defeat at the hands of a veteran

Lane quintet in the championship tilt on March 16th at Loyola Gym.

Had they won, it would have been their third consecutive championship title and would have tied the record established by a Roosevelt squad in 1932, '33, '34.

Louis Schiff and Joe Tatleman played on the second team this year, so that their graduation would not disrupt the team's work. The squad, therefore, lost no regulars at the mid-term and was able to progress smoothly for the remainder of the season.

The team was composed of Co-Captains Harry Keith and Abe Kreiter, Reuben Mass, Albert Rosenberg, and a newcomer, Leonard Rodnick. Rodnick was ineligible the first half of the season and started at the second half as a guard.

Keith and Kreiter were the most valuable players on the squad, as both had three years of playing experience with the Blue and Gold quintet and were able to throw in shots from all angles of the floor. They were fine sportsmen and knew how to take both victory and defeat.

Al Rosenberg, Leonard Rodnick, and Reuben Mass were the other members of the first team, and their capable ball handling helped greatly to keep Manley on top.

The remaining members of the team were Oscar Leight, Henry Rosenberg, Harry Speck, Norris Levine, Oscar Stein, Emanuel Claver, Seymour Engel, and Marcel Tuytens.

Due to the splendid playing and hard fighting spirit which he displayed throughout the entire season. Rodnick, a freshman, was made an exception to the usual rule regarding captains when he was selected captain of next year's team.

The team will be composed of the players who are left and a newcomer, "Mickey" Freidin, former Tuley basketeer, who will contribute his efforts toward another City Championship.

Coach Harry Naiman is well pleased with the results of this year, for he knows that the Manley fellows are good sportsmen, whether they win or lose.

SENIORS

Apparently unable to withstand the onslaught of the veteran teams, the Manley "Heavies" for the first time completed the season without any wins. The graduation of Goldberg and Massnikoff, who were taken from the squad at mid-term, was felt deeply, since the experience and playing of these two had meant a great deal.

To off-set these losses, Coach Blum selected from his crop of rookies two players who might take their places and help bolster the team. They were Alterwitz and Applebaum. After the vacancies were filled, the team consisted of Dubofsky and Alterwitz, forwards; Turk, center; Applebaum and Kaskas, guards. The alternates were Grossman, Four, Korn, Goldstein, Levine, and Reader. Turk and Kaskas are the members of the team who are graduating.

Next year's team will probably consist of the remaining members of the squad, plus several newcomers who were unable to play this semester.

It is reasonable to believe that it will not be long before the "Heavies" will be out on top.

TROPHY

This trophy was presented by Digamma Delta Rho, January, 1938, graduates, to Harry Keith for possessing and displaying the finest qualities of sportsmanship of the Class of June, 1938.

SWIMMING TEAM

Led by Captain Rendler, who was undefeated throughout the entire season, the Juniors, composed of France, Silverman, Soifer, Musicant, Zukowsky, Leslee, and Butchin, swept through five straight wins to set a record yet unequalled by Manley swimmers—nine wins and two defeats. They were serious contenders for city honors in the All Chicago High School Meet, but they were not entered because of a technicality.

Strengthened by the additions of Rosen, Glassner, Adelman, and Isaacson from the crop of Juniors, the Senior mermen improved to the point where they captured three meets and dropped three more by very narrow margins. The team consisted of Capt. Stolman, Hollander, Trager, Marcus, Mann, and Knee.

TRACK TEAM

Their bodies crouched, their toes at the mark, the gun!-They're off!

This portrays the excited scene as Manley's finest sprinters competed with runners from other schools in the 26th Annual Spring Track Meet held on May 27, 1938. The team made an excellent showing, since they had no earlier experience in open competition.

Coach Charles M. Kipp is certain that next year's team will be greatly improved, since the experience already received will undoubtedly be of advantage to the runners in future competitive meets.

TENNIS

A swish of the racket, a sharp ping, and the small white ball soared majestically over the long, low net as Manley's first tennis team, coached by Harry Naiman, entered Chicago's City-Wide Tennis Tournament.

A double "Round Robin" was played with Hyde Park, Englewood, Lindblom, Tilden, and Kelly, with the results satisfactory to Coach Naiman's expectations.

Many students answered the call for volunteers, and after eliminating the prospects, the team consisted of Capt. Ted Rosen and Milton Grabow, singles; Herman Seigel and Joe Miller, doubles; Barney Rosenfeld, singles, and Irving Ribstein, doubles, substitutes. Maurice Gottlieb was made playing manager. Another doubles team was formed consisting of Rudolph Goldberg and Sid Rosen.

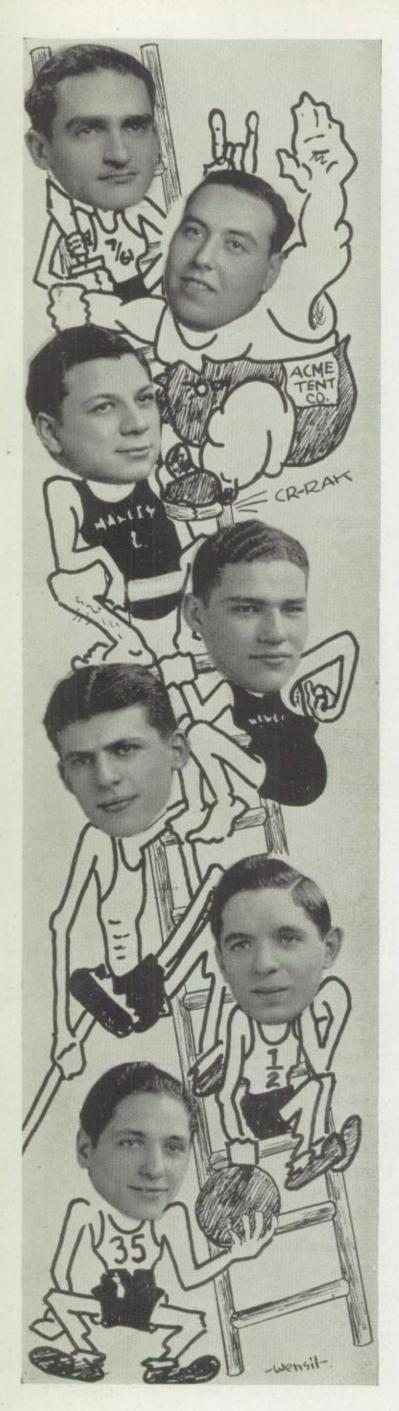

Regulars Grabow and Rosen and "Subs." Rosenfeld, Rosen, and Goldberg are left for next year. The experience they gained this year will undoubtedly assist them in their quest for the championship.

FENCING

Manley's first fencing team fared well when they participated in city-wide competition on Saturday, April 19th. Coach Naiman presented a team composed of Leo Cohen, Morris Tovian, Vito Capozzelli, William Sher, and William Margolis. Leo was the only one who had had any experience in swordsmanship as he had represented Manley in 1937.

Coach Naiman is well pleased with the results obtained by the team in their first venture in the foils-thrusting competition and is sure that the experience received by the two remaining swordsmen, Sher and Margolis, will enable them to lead a Manley fencing squad to a higher position, if not the championship, next year.

Cohen, Tovian, and Capozzelli are graduating; therefore, Mr. Naiman will select his future swordsmen from the fencing classes he conducts at present.

ALL

Leo Cohen

Leo is well known at Manley for his active participation in all sporting events. Many times Manley students cheered our teams to victory with Leo in front leading them on. To top his record, Leo has been captain of the Fencing Team.

Sheldon Millman

"Sonny" has been associated with sports at Manley for three years. Although he didn't do any actual playing on the basketball floor, his splendid cooperation and efficient management of the teams have won for him the coveted title "All Star."

Irving Marcus

"Irv" has been one of the main-stays of the swimming team. He started with the team when it was first organized in 1937, and his loyal support won him two letters for representing Manley in city-wide competition.

David Hollander

Dave has been an important factor in the development of a swimming team here at Manley. From the first day the team was organized, he has helped to make the venture successful. His absence from the team will be felt greatly, since his swimming scored many points for the Manley mermen.

Irving Turk

As captain of the Cross Country team and member of the "Heavies", Turk has helped bring about a renewed interest in sports, especially in track. This is verified by Manley's fine showing in the Spring and Fall track meets.

Harry Keith

Harry can truly be called an "All Star", since he is outstanding as a gentleman, athlete, and scholar. As player and co-captain of the "Lights", he displayed his fine sportsmanship, thereby earning the coveted "Dukie" Bernstein Memorial Sportsmanship Trophy.

Abe Kreiter

"Boomie" has been on the "Lights" for the past three years as player and then co-captain. His pot shots, hooks, and step-ins contributed many a point to Manley's tally and helped bring two championships and one runner-up title to Manley.

STARS

Lena Marie Pelsi

Although she has proved herself adept in apparatus, ping pong, and badminton, Lena Marie has gained recognition among her classmates as an outstanding baseball player. It was with the skill of a champion that she covered third base in the intramurals.

Angelina Parenti

Calm, dependable Angie is rightfully named "Home-run Queen." Her ability on the baseball diamond has won the admiration of both team members and opponents. She is accredited with six medals for championship volleyball and baseball games.

Ora Lee Wheelock

Ora Lee has not only proved her outstanding ability in speedy swimming and diving, but also in serving Manley as a Junior lifeguard. Her presence on winning intramural teams has been vitally important in bringing them to victory.

Marie Metallo

Possessing the qualities of a natural leader, Marie has been entrusted with the duties of Gym Representative since IB. For six semesters she has participated in intramural championships and has been recognized in baseball circles as a very skilled pitcher.

Mary Louise Storto

As all-around athlete, Mary Lou merits rank as an All Star. Noted for her creditable service as chairman of Freshman Intramurals and her integrity as referee, she is of inestimable value to the gym department.

Dorothy Prather

On the baseball diamond and on the volleyball court, Dorothy gains recognition for unsurpassed skill. Able service rendered as pool assistant and the distinction of being the only All Star senior lifeguard are the jewels in her aquatic crown.

Esther Becker

As one of Manley's top-notch referees, Esther has fulfilled that position like a veteran. No one has ever doubted her fairness in deciding close plays. She is the only All Star who has earned a Chevron.

"M" Club

THE G. A. A.

The G. A. A., sponsored by Miss Melba Moore, is perhaps one of the most useful organizations at Manley. A large majority of Manley's girls are members and are taught many of the gymnastic arts needed to develop them into healthy individuals. The cost of membership is very small although the experience and ability is of lifelong benefit.

An "M" is earned when the required quota of 1,000 points is reached before the end of four semesters through participation in activities, such as volleyball, baseball, badminton, shuffleboard, ping-pong, horseshoes, swimming, and many others. By adding an additional 300 points, one may earn a chevron, and when three of these have been acquired, a gold pin is received.

Picnics, hikes, bicycle rides, and many other healthful excursions are planned, each adding a certain number of points toward the acquisition of the major letter. Members never tire of the activities planned for this fine organization.

Parties with games and refreshments are held in the gym occasionally. A spirit of congenial competition and good fellowship is maintained, easing the acquaintance of new and older members. This condition is further encouraged at an annual assembly to welcome new members. New friendships and a wider social experience result from these informal gatherings.

Girls outstanding in all gym activities are chosen from this group to be given special recognition as Girl All Stars.

Officers of the G. A. A. are: President, Esther Stoller; Vice President, Rose Cohen; Secretary, Esther Mayer; Treasurer, Paulette Taylor. Council members are: Frances Binder, Gertrude Jackel, and Audrey Kaufman.

"M" CLUB

Those girls who have earned their letters are privileged to become members of the ''M'' Club. Business meetings are held every three months, and an annual banquet is given for all members, including the alumni.

Its officers are: President, Rose Bilow; Vice President, Esther Stoller; Secretary, Rose Bolotin; Treasurer, Rosalie Alex.

INTRAMURALS

Tournaments in volleyball and baseball are held each year between competing division rooms. Not only are these games exciting to the girls, but extra points are given to aid in receiving the 1,000 points required for a major letter. Good sportsmanship and fairness are encouraged as well as the effort toward physical development. Pins are awarded to each member of the first and second place winning teams.

LIFE SAVING

In order to become members of the Life Saving Club, girls are required to have passed their swimmer's test or to be able to swim twenty lengths of the pool. Life saving, artificial respiration, and other useful aids to swimming are taught by Mrs. Moore, the sponsor of the club. It consists of eighteen members, ten of which have been helping in the pool as pool assistants. The officers of the club are: President, S. Dlatt; Secretary, P. Taylor; Treasurer, E. Becker.

OUTSTANDING EVENT

Because of its excellent sponsorship and work accomplished, the girls' gym department of our school was judged by the supervisory staff of the gym department of the Chicago Board of Education to be the demonstration school for physical education.

The Physical Education Convention, which was held in Chicago during April, brought many interested visitors to observe the progress made in our gym department and to carry forth some of our ideas to other schools.

As a young school Manley can be proud of this accomplishment.

Lingeringly I turn away . . .

So with face lit with delight
And all gratitude, I stay
Yet to press their hand and say
Thanks . . . so fine a time!

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

The staff wishes to extend its sincerest thanks to those whose assistance was so vital to the completion of the Manley Memories. Responsible for the dedication and title page introductions was Marguerite Carroll, while Celia Goldstein cheerfully assumed the monumental task of typing all copy. As "ex officio" members the following students deserve recognition for their artistic and technical contributions: Marshall Marker and Seymour Okmin for fine representative photography and Esther Becker and Marvin Krell for invaluable aid in the make-up of the book. We thank Mr. Bielenberg for his kind assistance. As in the past Mr. Niehaus of the Fred Klein Printing Co., Mr. Babbin of the Photo-Engravers, and Mr. N. L. Gordon, photographer, have given us fullest cooperation in publishing this semi-annual.
